It is allvery well to say people should not attend to business upon Sunday, but unfortunately wind and tide cannot always be made subservient to time and assuming that a steamer or vessel just in is to be neglected, the mere fact of anxiety recarding her is not the best preparation for devotion. We only give this as an additional argument for our proposition. Our principal reasons are that the climate forbids lengthy abstraction of the mind to the congregation, and that it is equally unfavourable to those who have to perform the services. We conceive that it is the desire of the Bishop and those who minister here to render the service a true worship of God, and we feel confident that they will regard the proposition without prejudica.

There is one other reason peculiarly affecting Hongkong which we may urge with regard to the Cathedral services. The new rent system being in force, many who would gladly attend must take their chance, of back seats, where the voice of the preacher is imperfectly heard, or stay away. ... division of the service would leave vacant a large number of seats in a good nosition, it being understood that if hot occupied at the commencement of the communion service, they might be regarded as free to all comers. In conclusion, we would suggest that if arguments, in favour of a division of the service should be adopted by the eccleminstical authorities here, a second voluntary should if possible be played at its

WE understand that considerable progress has been made by the Fire Superintendent the organization of the details of the Fire Brigade. Various minor, appliances have been provided, some subordinate appointments have been made, and something has been effected in the way of co-operation with the possessors of effective engines, in the total absence of the latter among the Brigade requisites. A large number Brigade badges have been already issued by the Superintendent to Europeans, and they are being issued daily The Fire Brigade (which consists chiefly o Chinese) was exercised by Mr May at No. 5 Station this evening, and went through their various manosuvres very creditably.

Uhing Asee was charged by a barber with a cowardly but ingenious mode of robbery It appears that he called at the shop of the unsuspecting Barber at West Point and asked to stay there all night, as he had no pass. #### THE NORTH. (Recorder.)

The public will be glad to learn that at last a move has been made towards supply ing the Lighthouses at the entrance to the River and that works are being commenced for the first light, which is to be at Gutzlaaf. The erection of this light is to take four working months; but the interruption, consequent on the cold weather, will defer its completion till next May.

We are glad to hear that the experiment with the numbs on the steamer Ajan on Wednesday night were in the highest degree satisfactory. As inuch as four feel of the water was pumped out in the space of an hour and a half, and every hope is entertained of being able to raise her successfully. In order that the arrangements may be duly completed for the steamers to take her into dock, &c., further operations will be suspended till next Sunday, when the pumps will be applied, and it is hoped the steamer will in a short time rise to the surface. We trust sincerely that Batchelder's energy and skill will be crowned with the success which they deserve.

The Taoutai has issued a proclamation saying that a large number of unauthorised men are calling upon the people to pay taxes that have already been remitted, and urging them in future cases of the kind to prosecute the imposters in his Yamun, when he will be prepared to punish them.

> THE TUNG OFE OF SHANGHAL THE following letter to the Recorder will cossess some interest for the many readers who are constantly at a loss to understand the precise meaning of the terms expressing Chinese rank :-

> DEAR SIR, -On perusal of your leading article on Saturday morning, it occurred to me that there is one fact in connection with the Mixed Court, which cannot be denied namely that there is something materially wrong in its constitution, as by its acts it has proved itself to be nothing more nor less than the old Wei-yuan's Court under a new diaguise. There has been so much said and written about it already that I will content myself with merely stating the following fauts without needless comment. The two syllables Tung-Chi are now familliar as household words with the foreign residents in China, but as the Chinese charactors have never been printed in the local. Press, for reasons doubtless known to the powers that be, we have to look for them to other sources; and consequently turning to a Chinesa book where the names of all the different ranks of officers in the Imperial service are given, I find them to be the following characters Tung-Chi sides in the Left Court, and who gots his Great progress is already visible in the commission, seal and rank from the Em-

The Tungche has his rank and suite, as they are the outward appearances, thinking no doubt that foreign residents could not ascertain the really weak points, and that the official residents would no doubt keep the secret. The real distinguishing mark of Tungche is a peculiar peacock's feather bestowed by the Emperor by which he can be known from officers of other ranks who wear a feather of a differeut shape.
